A Cruise with a Difference

Ricardo Lily, you're here today to tell us about a journey you're planning. It's a rather unusual journey, I believe?

Lily Thanks, Ricardo. Yes, I'm so excited because this time next week I'll be taking the train to the port of Bremerhaven in Germany to board a very large ship.

Ricardo So, it sounds like you're going on a cruise?

Lily Yes and no. I am going on a long-sea voyage, but not on a cruise ship. I'll be travelling on a cargo ship, along with 4,000 containers carrying any kind of item you can imagine, from children's toys to motorbikes.

Ricardo What a great idea! I didn't know that passengers could travel on cargo ships.

Lily Will there be space for you with all of that cargo?

Ricardo Yes, of course. I'm going to have my own living room, bedroom, and bathroom. It's very comfortable, which is important because I'll be on board for 55 days!

VC: 04:00:00

Ricardo Fifty-five days is a long time. So, what are the ship's destinations?

Lily From Bremerhaven, we'll travel to Chile via the Panama Canal. While the ship is en route, it will visit Colombia, Peru, Ecuador, and Chile. It's a round trip, so on the way home we'll visit Rotterdam and Antwerp in Belgium for a short time, and end back at Bremerhaven in Germany.

Ricardo That sounds amazing! Will you be the only passenger on board?

Lily No, my son Daniel is coming with me, and there will be three other passengers. There aren't many cabins on cargo ships since most of the space is needed for the cargo. We're very fortunate to have this unique experience.

Ricardo Won't you get bored being at sea for so long?

Lily Not at all! We'll be visiting so many wonderful places. There's a library of books, too, many of which have been left behind by other travellers. I'll be doing a lot of reading. The ship also has a gym, which is a good thing because my son and I need to stay fit.

Ricardo Will this be your first cargo ship voyage?

Lily No, three years ago I cruised from Italy to Australia. That voyage lasted 91 days, but I'm a writer, and I used my time well on that trip. I wrote a whole book, which was published last year.

Ricardo Congratulations! Be a voyage! I hope you have a great trip this time! We should talk again when you return, so we can see how it went.

Lily That would be great! I look forward to telling you all about my adventures.
