How to Use This Book

Each unit in the Reading Jump Plus series includes eight parts. These parts work together to initiate student interest and develop understanding by first getting students thinking about the unit's topic, leading students through a reading passage, then consolidating students' comprehension of the reading passage, having students consider their own experiences and opinions related to the topic, and finally, further exposing students to the key vocabulary learned in each unit. A summary of each section is below.

Warm-Up

Each Warm-Up activity includes two questions aimed at stimulating students' interest about the topic. Sample responses to each Warm-Up question are provided in the answer key.

Vocabulary Preview

This section lists key vocabulary found within the passage. They are level-appropriate and limited, so students encounter mostly known words in each reading passage.

Before You Read

With this short introduction to the topic, students are provided with a means of accessing additional information helpful for the understanding of the reading passage. Each Before You Read section offers more specific details of the topic and gives new opportunities for discussion.

Before You Read

Many people own cameras that have the capability to record videos. But once they record a video, what do they do with it? In the past, the video footage may have been stored on a tape, CD, or computer where it could be lost. Today, people are choosing to keep their videos alive by sharing them with the world via the Internet. One very popular place to upload videos to the Internet is the website called YouTube.

YouTube is an amazing success story. After just a few years, it has become one of the most popular sites on the Internet. People in 19 different countries visit YouTube to watch, upload, or download video clips. Every minute, an estimated 24 hours of new videos are uploaded to the site. These range from homemade videos to segments of movies, concerts, and television shows.

YouTube was started in the winter of 2005 by three college friends in the US. By the following summer, its users were viewing 100 million videos a day. In the winter of 2006, the founders sold YouTube to Google for $1.65 billion in stock, and its popularity continued to grow. In 2008, it became the most popular social networking site in the United Kingdom. Today it is estimated that about 75 percent of the videos on the site come from outside of the United States.

Why is YouTube so popular? There are a number of theories. Some say it is because the site is free. Some say it's because it is easy to use—the clips can be downloaded to cell phones and iPods. Others cite the social aspects of YouTube, noting that people have a need to share their lives with others. In 2009, YouTube earned a Peabody Award for excellence in electronic media. The judges called YouTube "a 'Speaker's Corner,' ... an ever-expanding archive-cum-bulletin board that both embodies and promotes democracy."

Whatever the reason, YouTube continues to grow. It now attracts more than one billion views each day. In 2008, it signed a deal allowing it to post some full-length films and television shows. In March 2010, YouTube streamed 60 Indian cricket matches for free. YouTube claims this is the first such free online broadcast of a major sporting event.
